

Parcela 100, 2020

WINEMAKING

Made 100% from Tempranillo grapes grown in our vineyard on an 11-hectare plot designated Parcela 100, farmed under certified organic conditions. The grapes were mechanically harvested at night to keep low temperatures and retain all the variety's best natural aromas. Grape bunches were selected as they entered the winery to maintain fruit quality. The tumultuous, or alcoholic, fermentation was temperature-controlled at 24°C to favour extraction and obtain a concentrated wine while preserving the aromatic quality typical of the variety. The malolactic fermentation lasted between three and six weeks.

TECHNICAL DETAIL

The entirety of Martín Berdugo's single-vineyard estate strives to become sustainable. This wine's grapes were cultivated using minimum intervention agriculture. The family aims to safeguard and foment biodiversity on its ancestral estate. The 2020 harvest benefited from warm and sunny autumn conditions that secured excellent fruit maturity. The vintage is officially declared Excellent by the region's regulating body, the D.O. Ribera del Duero.

OAK AGING

Oak ageing took place over more than nine months within our temperature and humidity controlled barrel hall. New and second-use French and American oak barriques of 225-litre capacity with light-to-medium stave toasting were utilised.
